Foreword

This Compendium of Intra-African and Related Foreign Trade Statistics, has been compiled to provide quality and timely statistical data for analysis and research on economic issues related to intra-African trade, as well as for the monitoring and evaluation of trade policies in general. It is intended to serve the needs of researchers and policy makers, who work on trade issues as well as the public at large. This 2013 edition is the seventh in the series, which was first produced in 1997, with a break from 2006 to 2010.

The Compendium presents foreign trade data in sixteen chapters for all African countries for the period 2004 to 2012. It presents information on total, share, direction, and evolution of African trade. Focusing on intra-African trade, related statistical data of trade flows are grouped by region, subregions, and regional economic communities or (RECs) in Africa. Furthermore, data on intra-African trade have been provided by Standard International Trade Classification (SITC) at section level for all African countries, as well as intra and inter REC trade.

It is hoped that the Compendium will provide the needed support to ongoing efforts aimed at ensuring the integration of the African continent.

Avant-propos

Le présent Compendium des statistiques du commerce intra-africain et les échanges commerciaux extérieurs, a été compilé pour fournir des données statistiques de qualité, en temps opportun, pour les analyses et la recherche sur les sujets économiques relatifs au commerce intra-africain ainsi que pour le suivi et l'évaluation des politiques du commerce en général. Son objectif est de répondre aux besoins des chercheurs, des décideurs politiques qui travaillent sur les questions liées au commerce, et du publique au sens large. L'édition de 2013 est la septième de la série, qui a été produit en 1997 pour la première fois, et a été arrêté entre 2006 et 2010.

Le Compendium présente des données du commerce extérieur en seize chapitres pour tous les pays africains pour la période 2004 - 2012. Il présente l'information sur le total, la part, la direction et l'évolution du commerce africain. En se concentrant sur le commerce intra-africain, les données statistiques relatives aux flux commerciaux sont regroupées par région, sous-régions et par Communautés économiques régionales (CER) en Afrique. En outre, des données sur le commerce intra-africain ont été fournies par la Classification type pour le commerce international (CTCI) au niveau des sections pour tous les pays africains ainsi que du commerce intra et inter CER pour la période indiquée ci-dessus.

Il est à espérer que le Compendium fournira le soutien nécessaire aux efforts en cours pour assurer l'intégration du continent africain.

Introduction

This is the seventh edition of the Compendium of Intra-African and Related Foreign Trade Statistics. The Compendium was produced by the Economic Commission for Africa (ECA) from 1997 to 2005 on biennial basis and was discontinued since then. The African Centre for Statistics (ACS) of ECA has restarted producing the Compendium in 2011 and this is the 2013 edition. It is our hope that this publication will meet the needs of users at the international, regional, subregional and national levels, in particular the planning data for the African economies. The unique feature of this publication is the inclusion of trade data by regional economic communities (RECs) in Africa that are recognized by the African Union Commission (AUC) and other selected groupings of Africa.

1. Sources of data

The data contained in this publication comes from various sources: the main sources of the data are the ECA member States whose data are extracted from their national publications and websites. Other sources include online access to the Commodity Trade Database (COMTRADE) and the Monthly Bulletin of Statistics (MBS) of the United Nations Statistics Division (UNSD), the online database of the United Nations Conference on Trade and Development (UNCTAD), the Direction of Trade Statistics (DOTS) and International Financial Statistics (IFS) of the International Monetary Fund (IMF). After accessing all sources, estimation procedures have, where possible, been used to fill any remaining data gaps.

2. Systems of trade

Two systems of recording trade are in common use, differing mainly in the way warehoused and re-exported goods are recorded.

a) Special trade system

Countries may apply various definitions of special trade. Traditionally, the "strict" and the "relaxed" definitions of the special trade are differentiated. The strict definition of the special trade system is in use when the statistical territory comprises only the free circulation area, that is, the part within which goods "may be disposed of without customs restriction". Consequently, in such a case, imports include only goods entering the free circulation area of a compiling country and exports include only goods leaving the free circulation area of a compiling country. The relaxed definition of the special trade system is in use when (a) goods that enter a country for, or leave it after, inward processing, as well as (b) goods that enter or leave an industrial free zone, are also recorded and included in international merchandise trade statistics.

b) General trade system

General imports consist of: (a) Imports of foreign goods (including compensating products after outward processing which changed their origin from domestic to foreign) entering the free circulation area, premises for inward processing, industrial free zones, premises for customs warehousing or commercial free zones; (b) Re-imports of domestic goods into the free circulation area, premises for inward processing or industrial free zones, premises for customs warehousing or commercial free zones. General exports consist of: (a) Exports of domestic goods (including compensating products after inward processing which changed their origin from foreign to domestic) from any part of the statistical territory, including free zones and customs warehouses; (b) Re-exports of foreign goods from any part of the statistical territory, including free zones and customs warehouses.

Technically, direct transit trade (i.e. goods merely being trans-shipped or moving through the country for purposes of transport only) is excluded from the statistics of both special and general trade.

The statistics of the following countries are on the special trade system:

Algeria, Angola, Benin, Botswana, Burundi, Cameroon, Cape Verde, Central African Republic, Chad, Comoros, Congo, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Djibouti, Egypt, Equatorial Guinea, Gabon, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Liberia, Madagascar, Mauritania, Morocco, Mozambique, Niger, Sao Tome and Principe, Senegal, Somalia, Togo, and Zambia.

The statistics of the following countries are on the general trade system:

Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire, Ethiopia, Gambia, Ghana, Kenya, Lesotho, Libya, Malawi, Mali, Mauritius, Namibia, Nigeria, Rwanda, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, South Africa, South Sudan, Sudan, Swaziland, Tanzania (United Republic of), Tunisia, Uganda, and Zimbabwe.

3. Coverage

This volume contains data for the following African countries classified by subregion

North Africa: Algeria, Egypt, Libya, Mauritania, Morocco, Sudan and Tunisia.

West Africa: Benin, Burkina Faso, Cape Verde, Côte d'Ivoire, Gambia, Ghana, Guinea, Guinea-Bissau, Liberia, Mali, Niger, Nigeria, Senegal, Sierra Leone and Togo.

Central Africa: Cameroon, Central African Republic, Chad, Congo, Equatorial Guinea, Gabon, and Sao Tome & Principe.

East Africa: Burundi, Comoros, Democratic Republic of Congo, Djibouti, Eritrea, Ethiopia, Kenya, Madagascar, Rwanda, Seychelles, Somalia, South Sudan, Tanzania (United Republic of) and Uganda.

Southern Africa: Angola, Botswana, Lesotho, Malawi, Mauritius, Mozambique, Namibia, South Africa, Swaziland, Zambia and Zimbabwe.

4. Valuation

Generally imports are valued cost, insurance and freight (CIF), i.e. the value at which the goods were purchased plus the cost of transportation and insurance, where not included to the frontier of the country of imports (including unloading charges at the frontier if any).

Exports are generally valued free on board (FOB) or free on rail or road vehicles (f.o.r.) at the frontier of the country, including export duties, internal taxes and similar charges imposed in the country of exports in so far as they in fact remain charged on the goods exported. This is the value at which the goods were sold by the exporter, including transportation and insurance, to bring the goods onto the transporting vehicle at the frontier of the country.

Table 11: Share of Africa in world trade

The table provides value of total trade (imports/exports) in million U.S. dollars of Africa and the World for primary commodities, manufactured goods, and other goods not elsewhere specified for the period 2004 to 2012. It also provides the percentage share of African trade in the World trade for the indicated groups. The share is obtained by dividing total African trade by total World trade and multiplying the result by 100.

Table 12: Share of intra-African trade in total trade of Africa

The table provides value of total trade of Africa and intra-African trade (imports/exports) in million U.S. dollars for the period 2004 to 2012. It also provides the percentage share of intra-African trade in total trade of Africa. The share is obtained by dividing intra-African trade by total African trade and multiplying the result by 100.

Table 13: Share of intra-African trade by country and sub-region

The share (in percentages) of intra-African imports/exports of each country is provided. Also the share of intra-African imports/exports by the five ECA subregions: North Africa, West Africa, Central Africa, East Africa and Southern Africa are provided for the period 2004 to 2012. The share is obtained by dividing intra-African trade of each country by the corresponding total trade of the country and multiplying the result by 100.

Table 14: Share of intra-African trade in total trade of eight regional economic communities

The share in percentages of intra-African imports/exports of each regional economic community is provided for the period 2004 to 2012. The share is obtained by dividing intra-Africa trade of a REC by the total trade of the corresponding REC and multiplying the result by 100.

Table 15: Share of intra-African trade by country in its respective regional economic community

The share in percentages of imports/exports of each member States in a particular regional economic community out of the total imports/exports of that regional economic community. The shares are provided for all member States belonging to the eight regional economic communities recognized by AUC for the period 2004 to 2012. The share is obtained by dividing intra-Africa trade of a country by the intra-African trade of the REC and multiplying the result by 100.

Table 16: Trade conversion factor

Trade conversion factors of period average are provided for the years 2004 to 2012 for all African countries. Trade conversion factors are weighted averages of exchange rates, the weights being the corresponding monthly or quarterly values of imports or exports. The exchange rates are the rates provided by the country concerned or compiled by the IMF.

Figures 1 & 2: Growth rate of intra-African trade in eight regional economic communities

The growth rate is computed by subtracting intra-African trade (imports/exports) of previous year from current year and dividing the result by intra-African trade of previous year.

Figures 3 & 4: Share of Africa in world trade

The share is obtained by dividing total African trade (imports/exports) by total World trade (imports/exports) and multiplying the result by 100.

The share is obtained by dividing intra-African trade (imports/exports) by total African trade (imports/exports) and multiplying the result by 100.

6. Estimation of missing data

Not all the data provided in this publication should be regarded as actual, estimates have been prepared to fill gaps in time series where necessary and used italic bold fonts to identify them.

Estimation is defined as the creation or imputation of missing data. Missing data are those which for one reason or another have not been reported by country authorities who are expected to do so.

In this publication missing data have been estimated using various techniques. With regard to the methodology used in filling missing data the following assumptions were used: whenever available, total imports and exports data have been taken from MBS or IFS in all cases; when the missing data are consecutively for one or two years, the actual shares of imports and exports of the preceding year by partner countries were used from COMTRADE database; when missing data are consecutively for more than two years, then the share of the direction of trade data by partner countries from DOTS were used; and for those countries where there were no data in DOTS, mirror data from COMTRADE database have been used.

A brief description of the distribution method is provided in the following Item 7 since it is less well known than the traditional interpolation and extrapolation techniques.

7. Description of the distribution method of estimation

If we know the shares of bilateral trade flows to the total flow (world, region, country, etc.) for the previous typical or representative period (year, quarter, month, etc.), then it should be possible to estimate bilateral trade flows for the present period. In simple terms, one is distributing the total trade of a country to its various trading partners, on the basis of a known previous structure of trade (proportional distribution).

In the case of bilateral trade flows the method can be illustrated as follows:

Let T = Total trade flow of country A (this is assumed to be fixed);

n = Number of A's trading partners;

p_i ($i = 1, \dots, n$) = proportional distribution (shares of trade) of country A's bilateral trade flows for a previous period (month, quarter, year, etc.);

q_i ($i = 1, \dots, n$) = estimated bilateral trade flows of country A (with its partners) for the present or future period (month, quarter, year, etc.).

Then, the estimated bilateral trade flows for country A during the current period is given by

$$q_i = p_i T \quad (i = 1, 2, \dots, n).$$

It is important to realize that in using this method the structure of trade which was established in a previous period is assumed to apply in the present period. If the structure of trade has changed, then the estimates will not be accurate.

The choice of the p_i values is therefore very crucial here. The T value could be the true value (reported value), or estimated value obtained by using other methods such as extrapolation method.

This method has been used by a number of international agencies in situations which involve distributing an estimated or (actual) trade value to specified cells. The method is based on the assumption that the structure of trade in the previous period has remained constant.

This method is sometimes described in terms of shares of trade flows. For example, it is possible to estimate bilateral trade flows of a country, if we know the shares of bilateral trade, of that country, for a previous period. This method has been used extensively by the IMF particularly in estimating trade data for its Direction of Trade Statistics publication.

Introduction

Nous vous présentons la septième édition du Compendium des statistiques du commerce intra-africain et des échanges extérieurs de l'Afrique. Le compendium a été produit tous les deux ans par la Commission Economique pour l'Afrique (CEA) de 1997 à 2005 avant que sa production ne soit arrêtée. La CEA a repris la production du compendium à partir de 2011. Nous espérons que cette publication répondra aux besoins des utilisateurs aux niveaux international, régional, sous-régional et national, en particulier dans le domaine des données sur l'économie des pays africains. L'originalité de cette publication réside dans le fait qu'elle contient des données sur le commerce pour les communautés économiques régionales reconnues par la Commission de l'Union Africaine (CUA) et pour d'autres regroupements de pays choisis en Afrique.

1. Sources des données

Les données qui figurent dans cette publication proviennent de diverses sources, principalement des pays membres de la CEA et elles sont tirées de leurs publications nationales et sites web. Pour les autres sources, il s'agit notamment de la base de données sur le commerce de marchandises (COMTRADE) du Siège de l'ONU, du Bulletin Mensuel de Statistiques de la Division Statistique des Nations Unies (DSNU), de la base de données en ligne de la Conférence des Nations Unies sur le Commerce et le Développement (CNUCED), de la base de données de la Direction des Statistiques du Commerce du Fonds Monétaire International (FMI) et des Statistiques Financières Internationales du FMI. Après avoir consulté toutes ces sources, on a utilisé les procédures d'estimation, dans la mesure du possible, pour combler les lacunes.

2. Systèmes d'échanges commerciaux

a) Échanges commerciaux spéciaux

Les pays appliquent différentes définitions du système des échanges commerciaux spéciaux. Traditionnellement, la différence est faite entre la définition « stricte » et la définition « relaxée » du système des échanges commerciaux spéciaux. La définition stricte est utilisée quand le territoire statistique comprend uniquement la zone de libre circulation, c'est-à-dire la zone dans laquelle les marchandises « peuvent être utilisées sans restrictions douanières ». Par conséquent, dans ce cas, les importations incluent seulement les biens entrant dans la zone de libre circulation du pays et les exportations incluent seulement les biens quittant la zone de libre circulation du pays. La définition « relaxée » est utilisée quand (a) les biens qui entrent dans le pays pour transformation ou quittent le pays après transformation ainsi que (b) les biens qui y entrent ou quittent les zones franches industrielles sont aussi inclus dans les statistiques du commerce international de marchandises.

b) Échanges commerciaux généraux

Les importations générales sont constituées de : (a) Les importations de biens étrangers (y compris les produits qui, après transformation, ont changé leur origine de domestique à étranger) entrant dans la zone de libre circulation, les zones de transformation ou les zones franches industrielles, les entrepôts douaniers ou les zones franches commerciales ; (b) Les réimportations de biens domestiques dans la zone de libre circulation, les zones de transformation ou les zones franches industrielles, les entrepôts douaniers ou les zones franches commerciales. Les exportations générales comportent : (a) Les exportations de biens domestiques (y compris les produits qui, après transformation, ont changé leur origine d'étranger à domestique) de toute partie du territoire statistique, y compris les zones franches et les entrepôts douaniers ; (b) Les réexportations de biens étrangers de toute partie du territoire statistique, y compris les zones franches et les entrepôts douaniers.

D'un point de vue technique, le commerce de transit direct (c.-à-d. le simple fait de transborder des marchandises ou de traverser un pays pour les acheminer) est exclu des statistiques des échanges commerciaux spéciaux et généraux.

Les statistiques des pays suivants portent sur le système des échanges commerciaux spéciaux:

Algérie, Angola, Bénin, Botswana, Burundi, Cameroun, Cap-Vert, Comores, Congo, Djibouti, Égypte, Gabon, Guinée, Guinée-Bissau, Guinée équatoriale, Libéria, Madagascar, Maroc, Mauritanie, Mozambique, Niger, République centrafricaine, République démocratique du Congo, Sao Tomé et Príncipe, Sénégal, Somalie, Tchad, Togo, Zambie.

Les statistiques concernant les pays suivants portent sur le système des échanges commerciaux généraux:

Afrique du Sud, Burkina Faso, Côte d'Ivoire, Éthiopie, Gambie, Ghana, Libye, Kenya, Lesotho, Malawi, Mali, Maurice, Namibie, Nigéria, Rwanda, Seychelles, Sierra Leone, Soudan, Soudan du Sud, Swaziland, Tanzanie (République Unie de), Tunisie, Ouganda, Zimbabwe.

3. Pays concernés

Afrique du Nord:	Algérie, Égypte, Libye, Mauritanie, Maroc, Soudan et Tunisie.
Afrique de l'Ouest:	Bénin, Burkina Faso, Cap-Vert, Côte d'Ivoire, Gambie, Ghana, Guinée, Guinée-Bissau, Libéria, Mali, Niger, Nigéria, Sénégal, Sierra Leone et Togo.

Afrique australe:	Afrique du Sud, Angola, Botswana, Lesotho, Malawi, Maurice, Mozambique, Namibie, Swaziland, Zambie et Zimbabwe.

4. Évaluation

Les importations sont en général évaluées au prix CAF (coût, assurance, fret), c.-à-d. la valeur à laquelle la marchandise a été achetée plus le coût du transport et de l'assurance, dans les cas où il n'est pas inclus, jusqu'à la frontière du pays importateur (y compris, le cas échéant, les frais de déchargement à la frontière).

Les exportations sont en général évaluées au prix FAB (franco à bord) ou chargé wagon ou véhicule à la frontière du pays, y compris les droits d'exportation, les taxes intérieures et droits similaires imposés dans le pays exportateur dans la mesure où ils s'appliquent effectivement aux biens exportés. Il s'agit de la valeur à laquelle l'exportateur vend les produits, y compris le transport et l'assurance, et les transporte à la frontière du pays.

Il indique également la part des importations et des exportations intra-africaines des cinq sous-régions de la CEA: Afrique du Nord, Afrique de l'Ouest, Afrique centrale, Afrique de l'Est et Afrique australe. Les pourcentages sont obtenus en divisant le commerce intra-africain de chaque pays par le commerce total du même pays avec le reste du monde. Les données sont pour la période 2004 - 2012.

Tableau 14: Part du commerce intra-africain dans le commerce total pour huit communautés économiques régionales

Le tableau indique la part (en pourcentage) des importations et des exportations intra-africaines de chaque communauté économique régionale pour la période 2004 - 2012.

Tableau 15: Part du commerce intra-africain du pays dans sa communauté économique régionale respective

Le tableau donne les parts en pourcentage des importations/exportations de chaque pays membre dans une communauté économique régionale donnée par rapport aux importations/exportations totales de cette communauté économique régionale. Les parts sont données pour la période 2004 - 2012 pour tous les pays membres des huit communautés économiques régionales reconnues par la Commission de l'Union Africaine.

Tableau 16: Facteurs de conversion du commerce

Le tableau indique les taux moyens de conversion par période pour les années 2004 à 2012 pour tous les pays africains. Les facteurs de conversions sont des moyennes pondérées des taux de change, les poids étant les valeurs correspondantes des importations ou des exportations. Les taux de changes sont fournis par les pays concernés ou par le FMI.

Figures 1 & 2: Taux de croissance du commerce intra-africain de huit communautés économiques régionales

Le taux de croissance est calculé en faisant la différence entre le commerce intra-africain (importations/exportations) de l'année courante et de l'année précédente et en divisant le résultat par le commerce intra-africain (importations/exportations) de l'année précédente.

Figures 3 & 4: Part de l'Afrique dans le commerce mondial

La part est obtenue en divisant le commerce total africain (importations/exportations) par le commerce total mondial et en multipliant le résultat par 100.

La part est obtenue en divisant le commerce intra-africain (importations/exportations) par le commerce africain total et en multipliant le résultat par 100.

6. Estimation des données qui manquent

Il ne faudrait pas considérer toutes les données figurant dans cette publication comme étant effectives, des estimations ayant servi, au besoin, à combler les lacunes dans des séries chronologiques. Ces données estimées sont mises en italique gras.

Par estimation, il faut entendre l'élaboration ou l'attribution de données qui manquent. Il s'agit des données que, pour une raison ou pour une autre, les autorités compétentes n'ont pas communiquées, comme elles auraient dû le faire.

Dans cette publication, les données qui manquent ont été estimées à l'aide de diverses techniques. En ce qui concerne la méthodologie utilisée pour estimer les valeurs manquantes, les hypothèses suivantes ont été faites : dans la mesure du possible, les importations totales et les exportations totales ont été prises dans le Bulletin Mensuel de Statistiques de la DSNU ou des Statistiques Financières Internationales du FMI ; quand les données manquent une ou deux années consécutives, les parts des exportations et des importations des pays partenaires pour l'année précédente, obtenue à partir de COMTRADE, ont été utilisées pour l'estimation. Quand les données manquent pour plus de deux années consécutives, les parts des échanges par pays partenaires, obtenues à partir de la base de donnée de la Direction des Statistiques du Commerce du FMI ont été utilisées. Pour les pays qui n'ont pas de données dans la base de données de la Direction des Statistiques du Commerce du FMI, les données miroir de COMTRADE ont été utilisées.

Nous présenterons brièvement les méthodes de répartition dans la section suivante car elles sont bien moins connues que les techniques classiques d'interpolation et d'extrapolation.

Description de la méthode de la répartition

Si nous connaissons la part des flux commerciaux bilatéraux par rapport au flux total (monde, région, pays, etc.) pendant la période précédente typique ou représentative (année, trimestre, mois, etc.), il devrait alors être possible d'estimer les flux commerciaux bilatéraux pendant la période actuelle. En d'autres termes, on répartit le volume total des échanges d'un pays avec ses divers partenaires commerciaux, sur la base d'une structure des échanges connue (répartition proportionnelle).

Dans le cas des flux commerciaux bilatéraux, la méthode peut s'expliquer comme suit:

Soit T = total des flux commerciaux du pays A (en supposant qu'il s'agisse d'une valeur fixe);

n = Nombre de partenaires commerciaux de A;

p_i ($i=1, \dots, n$) = répartition proportionnelle (parts du commerce) des flux commerciaux bilatéraux du pays A pendant une période précédente (mois, trimestre, année, etc.);

q_i ($i=1, \dots, n$) = flux commerciaux bilatéraux estimatifs du pays A (avec ses partenaires) pendant la période actuelle ou dans l'avenir (mois, trimestre, an, etc.).

Ensuite, les flux commerciaux bilatéraux estimatifs du pays A pendant la période actuelle sont calculés comme suit:

$$q_i = p_i T \quad (i=1, 2, \dots, n).$$

Il est important de reconnaître qu'en utilisant cette méthode, on se fonde sur l'hypothèse que la structure des échanges précédente s'applique à la période actuelle. Si la structure des échanges a changé, alors les estimations ne seront pas exactes.

Par conséquent, le choix des valeurs p_i est déterminant ici. La valeur T pourrait être la vraie valeur (valeur communiquée) ou la valeur estimative obtenue en utilisant d'autres méthodes telles que la méthode de l'extrapolation.

Un certain nombre d'organismes internationaux ont utilisé cette méthode dans certains cas en donnant une valeur estimative ou effective à des groupes déterminés. La méthode se fonde sur l'hypothèse que la structure des échanges de la période précédente est restée constante.

Cette méthode est parfois décrite en termes de parts des flux commerciaux. Par exemple, on peut estimer les flux commerciaux bilatéraux d'un pays si l'on connaît les parts du commerce bilatéral de ce pays pendant une période antérieure. Le FMI a couramment utilisé cette méthode, en particulier, pour estimer les données destinées à sa publication intitulée *Direction of Trade Statistics*².
